

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reporting system capable of reporting the end of a scanning session to a user through existing computer peripheral devices is proposed. By reporting at the end of a scanning session, the user can proceed with subsequent scanning operations with no
5 delay. Hence, idle time of the scanner is greatly reduced.